

Dear Colleagues,

We hope this email finds you well in these extraordinary times. We just want to bring your attention to a series of online seminars that are being jointly organised by CNRS (France), and Seoul National University (South Korea). In this series, we will have one speaker almost every week from September to November 2020, who will present their work related to distributed estimation and optimization in dynamical systems. The registration for these seminars is free, but necessary, so that you can get the required information about the connection and the recordings (which will be available only temporarily). Further details, such as, the list of speakers, the schedule, and the subscription form can be found on any of the following two websites:

<https://controlseminars.snu.ac.kr>

<https://dirobs.laas.fr>

We hope you can join us for this exciting series.

With best regards,
Hyungbo Shim (SNU, Korea)
Aneel Tanwani (LAAS-CNRS, France)
